

Breastfeed your Dream

Use your Female Advantage to Feed the Law of Attraction

Maria Mar

Breastfeed your Dream

Use your Female Advantage
in the Law of Attraction

This is a

Book sample.

Not for copy, distribution or sales.

Contents and art are protected by International Copyright Law.

By Maria Mar©

ShamansDance Publishing and Productions. New York 2008

Table of Contents

Introduction

Part 1: Get off the Comfort Zone

Chapter 1: Re-dress your Dreams

Chapter 2: Release resistance

Chapter 3: Clear your Emotional Undertow

Chapter 4: Hunt Down your Inner Enemies

Part 2: Awaken from the Domestication Trance

Chapter 5: Quest for your Dreamlife Vision

Chapter 6: Heal the Orphanhood of the Soul

Chapter 7: Choose what you feed and what you starve

Part 3: Retrieve your Female Powers

Chapter 8: Crack the Mask of Self

Chapter 9: Awaken the Rose

Chapter 10: Expand your Field of Perception

Chapter 11: Feed your Self-value

Chapter 12: Refuse to give your power away

Part 4: Engage your Male Powers

Chapter 13: Assume your Personal Power

Chapter 14: Celebrate your Marriage of Power

Chapter 15: Quest for your Service Vision

Part 5: Free your DreamSelf

Chapter 16: Receive the Dream

Chapter 17: Live the Dream

About the Author

About ShamansDance

Appendixes

Appendix 1: Resources

1A: Angelina and the Law of Attraction inspirational novel

1B: Catch the Dream Express Workbook

1C: Dragonfly Diva Audio

1D: Dream Express Membership

1E: Dream Express Blog

1F: Dream Alchemist Radio Show

1G: Website, magazine and newsletter

Appendix 2: Other Systems by this author

2A: Write to Dream: writing is the road to your dream

2B: Hunt Down the Inner Enemies of your Success

2C: FlightDream: Giving your Fairy Tale a Happy Ending

2D: Bewomaning: Become the protagonist of your life

Appendix 3: End notes

The Mortified Moth

She furiously pursued the light, flying in a straight line towards the shiny bulb. It was plain to see that her goal was right in front of her. Why couldn't she reach it? What was wrong with her? Refusing to answer a question that could expose her ordinary, dull wings ? in no way comparable to Butterfly? ; she repeatedly crashed against the closed window.

In that light, she would be ablaze. Inside that light, she knew, her true colors would surface, like rainbows from a raindrop. Her wings fluttered frantically as she hungrily sought her destination. Six inches above her, the window opened wide. A gentle breeze easily flowed in and out of the room, playfully tickling her wings. But she could not afford to seek delight as her prettier cousin Butterfly. She must work hard for her glory. Oblivious to her senses, she kept dashing towards the goal that was plainly in view.

Had she known that her nature was to fly high, she might have found the way to also burn bright.

CHAPTER 1

Re-dress your Dreams

Do you, like the moth in the story, find yourself pursuing your dream desperately, running frantically towards it every day and feeling that it eludes you?

Do you feel that you are running in place and the faster your run, the deeper the hole you dig under yourself?

At the end of the day, this great dream seems as out of your reach as it was in the morning. You've worked hard. You've done your best, but that for which you long seems as far away as ever.

Here is the catch: If you believe that this dream is a reality outside of yourself, then it will always seem farther away.

We have learned to see our dreams as external circumstances out there, miles and years away, waiting for us. The truth is quite different.

When we are born, our genetic code carries the seed of the physical and personality traits we will have when we grow up. In the same manner, an embedded pattern inside us carries the potential of our dreams and our Soul's purpose. Let us call that seed the DreamSelf. It is the seed of who we were born to be once we reach inside for our fullest potential.

Breastfeed your Dream
Use your Female Advantage to Feed the Law of Attraction

This book is a map to your DreamSelf. Bring this knowledge into your daily life, do the Dreamjourney tasks described in the boxes and you will be reaching inside the deepest recesses of your mind to free your DreamSelf. Once your DreamSelf emerges into your conscious mind, you are awakened. This means that you remember who you agreed to be in this lifetime. You no longer feel this DreamSelf as a vague, perhaps unreal dream. You experience yourself to be that dream, no matter what your current circumstances are.

When you experience yourself to be your dream right now, where you stand, no oppression or limitation can take away your confidence or self-love. No circumstance delimits your capacity. No obstacle stands on your way. It is simply not possible because you already ARE that dream and you have the innate power of shaping your circumstances to reflect the dream you already are.

At that moment, the Law of Attraction will work miraculously to bring you the allies, resources and synchronicities you need to accelerate the creation of the circumstances that are in alignment with your highest potential.

The Seed of your Dream

When you were seven years old and looked at yourself in a mirror, you saw just a scrawny little girl. But the woman you would one day be was already embedded in your cells. She was not four feet tall, but five foot and five inches tall with curly black hair, or wide at the hips with fantastic legs. She was already there, even if you could not see her, even if the “external” circumstances showed a skinny little girl with no curves and ordinary legs.

Breastfeed your Dream
Use your Female Advantage to Feed the Law of Attraction

In that same manner, that which you want to be, the life you long to have, is already there, curled inside your Soul, vibrating inside your DNA, waiting to unfold.

Every seed, however, must be nourished if it is to grow. Had you had the misfortune of becoming anorexic ? as so many young girls do these days? , your hips may not have fully developed. If you had not followed your passion to run like the wind, your legs may have stayed underdeveloped. Every human potential comes with a contractual clause: free choice.

This contractual clause also applies to your dream. No Dream Law will circumvent your choice. The Law of Attraction follows the harmony of the universe. It will not attract to you that which you are not feeding with your attention. The Law of Alignment allows you to align with your potential and desire. It will not bend the intention you carry deep in your heart. The Law of Manifestation gives shape to your desire in the physical world. It will not form anything that you have not fully embraced.

The Domestication Dress

If your DreamSelf was born with you, and your dream is as real as the DNA strand that gives you that shiny hair or that cute dimple, then why isn't it manifesting in your life? You want it so badly. You think of it all the time. You've read every Law of Attraction book you can get your hands on. What on earth do you have to do in order to activate that seed?